"The fight against gender-based violence: policies, strategies and tools for an integrated and intersectoral approach"

26th May 2021

10.30 - 13.00

Gender-based violence is a major social problem and a violation of human rights, which the European Agenda is emphasizing. The topic also affects the Health sector, both in terms of relief and care for women and minors victims of witnessed violence or orphans of femicide, and in terms of emotional addictions and prevention of relapses by taking charge of the perpetrators.

In this context, during the first period of 2021, ProMIS has activated a dedicated working group. Specifically, this webinar aims to provide an overview of policies and strategies adopted at the European and national level, also in the face of the Covid-19 pandemic, as well as to start a discussion on possible integrated approaches to prevent violence, promote support activities for victims and paths of social integration and economic independence. The event also aims to be an opportunity to bring to light the opportunities at a European level and promote integrated programming among the different levels and institutional roles.
